
I'm Going to the Library

— A Social Story for Adults —
by the Dobbs Ferry Public Library

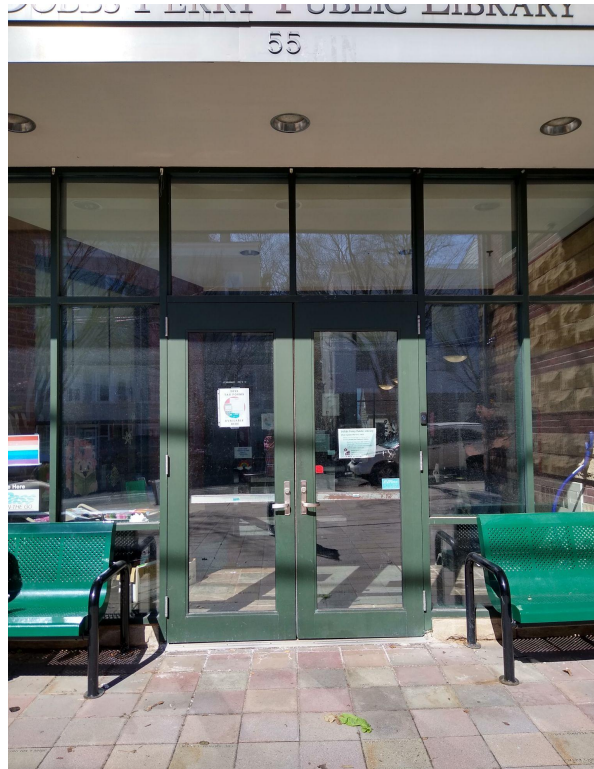

Note to Readers

The purpose of this book is to help adults prepare for a visit to the Dobbs Ferry Public Library. Reading this book before you visit the library can help familiarize you with the library's spaces. That way, you will know what to expect when you visit.

Welcome to the Dobbs Ferry Public Library! We hope to see you soon.

This is my library.
It's where I can check out books, movies, and more.

This is the front of my library.
I push the doors open when I walk in.

There are more doors after the front door.
I open these doors too.

This is the lobby of my library.
I can go left, to the children's room, or right, to the circulation desk.

This is the circulation desk, where I check out and return books.
I can ask for help with something if I need it.

This is where I can find new books, CDs, and DVDs.

I can use the stairs or the elevator near the circulation desk to go upstairs to the adult area.

This is the adult area.
I can find books and computers here.

This is the reference desk.
I can ask the librarian for help finding books.

I can use the computers to go on the internet or type something up.

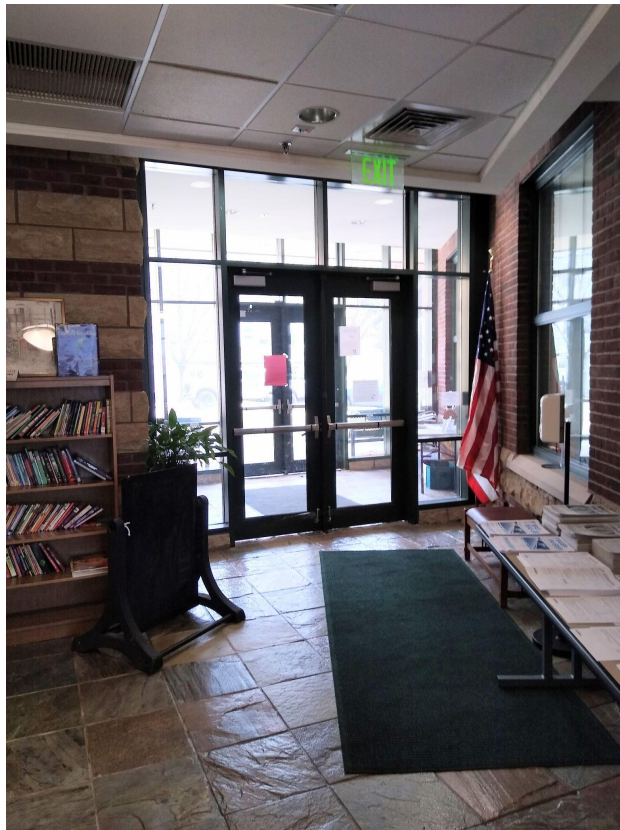

This is the bathroom in the adult area.
I will knock before entering and wash my hands when I leave.

This is the community room.
I might go to a program or event here.

This is the book drop at the library.
I can return my books here when the library is closed.

It's time to go home. I will be back soon!
